OFFICE OF THE CHIEF OF STAFF
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20310

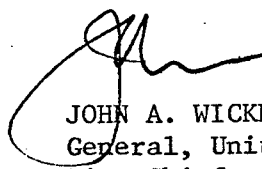

3 November 1982

Dear John:

I appreciate the time you shared with us to attend the Intelligence and Electronic Warfare Systems Program Review at Fort Huachuca. Your views and presence were important to the military intelligence community as we work together toward our common goal of providing better and more timely all source intelligence to commanders. Intelligence from national assets is essential if we are to see deep to fight and win on the extended battlefield envisaged in air-land battle doctrine. The CIA's contribution to this conference increased our understanding of your organization's capabilities to support us and, more importantly, demonstrated the growing spirit of cooperation that must exist if we are to fulfill the public trust.

Bill Odom will keep you fully apprised of Army intelligence concepts, programs, and requirements. Don't hesitate to contact him or me at any time. I look forward to a future of increased mutual support.

Most sincerely,

JOHN A. WICKHAM, JR.
